Music graduates have a wide range of career options available to them both inside and outside the industry, including: performer, teacher, administrator, songwriter, conductor, composer, recording engineer, manager, promoter, or music publisher. The range of roles can seem quite endless.

There are also more jobs than ever in music business related areas, such as careers in digital marketing, social media, PR, technology, label services, ticketing and merchandising. It is also common to find music graduates in consultancy, finance, banking, music therapy and legal jobs.

What can I do after I have completed this course?

Music is an excellent platform to prepare students to study Level 3 BTEC Music. GCSE and BTEC Music also complement a range of commonly required A-level subjects like Maths, Physics, English and Biology. These are also known as ‘facilitating subjects’ and selecting a good mix can help keep degree choices wide open.
